ABOUT ELIZABETH

INTRO AND BIO

Elizabeth Meigs is an overcomer and a fighter, who knows her purpose is to inspire, provide hope and encourage those who are going through the toughest challenge of their lives, to not give up. She was born and raised in a small rural town in Southeast Kansas where her family raised horses. She was an “outdoorsy” girl who loved fishing and riding her horse. Her dreams and goals were coming true when her world was turned upside down in a car accident, one week into her freshman year of high school. That night, everything for her and her family came abruptly to a stop. She learned how to overcome the hard obstacles and deep down she knew there was a purpose for all she was going through. Not only did her dreams change, but a new purpose was revealed.

Discover effective strategies to overcome life's challenges from someone who has been there. By sharing her own experiences, this mission-driven individual has helped countless others to find hope and resilience in difficult times. Whether you're dealing with job loss, a failed marriage, divorce, physical challenges, or other setbacks, these natural solutions can help you stay focused on achieving your dreams. Get the support you need to keep pushing forward and believe that anything is possible.

Helping others to find solutions of hope and strength is a great joy for her. Elizabeth is eternally grateful that God has continued to open doors to new opportunities for her to help others using her talents and experiences, in ways she never dreamed or imagined.

Steve Lester

I have had the pleasure of hearing Elizabeth share her very inspiring story on at least three occasions. I am also blessed to call her my friend for the last two-plus years and the coming years ahead. Her life story is a celebration of what is possible when your faith in God and your dreams takes charge of your daily life and future. I highly encourage you and your organization to invite Elizabeth to speak and share her amazing and inspiring story.
